Greetings from the Music Department!

Save the date! I would like to announce that my husband, William, and I will be performing a small concert for you here at Philadelphia Presbyterian Church on Saturday, May 18th at 3pm. The concert will feature both of us at the piano and some vocals, with a special surprise closing piece! The concert is open to the public, so invite the whole family. It is a free of charge though we will accept free-will donations of any amount.

Music on Communion Sundays. Some of you may have noticed the choir gently singing along with me at Communion time. I plan the music during communion to be inviting all to join in a spirit of musical fellowship. There is of course no obligation to join in the singing, but hopefully it gives you the opportunity to praise God with us if you feel inspired. As you get to know the songs, which will cycle, please feel free to join in the singing!
